“ He was, always, Sonny to those that grew up with him. I've not seen him since we were teens. Sonny and his little sister, Kay, grew up down Kamay highway from me. He was nice and polite and had a big wave and smile when he'd drive by. He was, always, friendly. His dad raised them. His mother was absent in his life. Sonny ended up taking some wrong roads in his lifetime and that made many of his childhood friends very sad and concerned for him. We all loved him very much. Some of us have searched for him, occasionally, on the web over the years. We did it out of love and concern for Sonny. Then, we found this tribute . I don't know of any existing relatives, but if there are, I, and many of his childhood, extend our deepest condolences to them. We loved Sonny and know he is, finally, at rest. Bless his heart. RIP, sweet friend. ❤️
