“ So sad about this. Tyson is one of a kind. A wise young man. He always had a full of life personality. I can't stop crying. I know, he loved his brother and family. He always talked about nothing but good. He told me, he was happy for my husband, Gabe and me to meet. He wasn't selfish. He cared so much for people and their needs. He was funny always. He let my husband and my 7 year old son look at the fish. And would give our son a hard time. I met him years ago. He always did a fantastic job on my nails. He had to make sure, they were dry or he would get on to me. Man, I'm going to miss him beyond words. My condolences to his beautiful Mother, brother and family. Love you all! From, Gabriel, Dominique, and little Landyn. 💕

“ So sad to hear of him passing. He's quiet the character and a very amazing nail tech. He always made my nails look their best. I can remember a lot of times , he'd be like Paula you almost waited too long to get a fill, probably have to do a new set next time. I always would be ok Tyson, I'll do my best to get back sooner. We had some of the best conversations and shared many laughs. My condolences to the family.

“ When I found out about Tyson's passing my heart sank. He was my FAVORITE nail tech. Not only that he was so funny, sweet and probably the only man that listened to me and did what I wanted him to do. 😂😂. We would fuss and argue every time I saw him. Other customers would be so entertained by our conversations. Oh how I'm going to miss him so much. 😭😭. I always told him as soon as I won the lottery or became rich I was going to hire him to be my personal nail tech and he would say well hurry up! Such a vibrant and loving soul. My thoughts, deepest condolences and prayers to the family.

Tyson was the only person I trusted doing my nails because he was the only person who listened to what I liked and he was also a great listener to my problems as well and a great conversationalist he was always happy and vibrant. I'm definitely going to miss him, probably won't ever find another nail tech like him he was truly AMAZING! My heart and prayers go out to his family. I'm so sorry for your loss he was definitely a great man!
