“ My loving aunt went home to her Heavenly Father. I was able to spend time praying with her during her journey to the streets of gold. She allowed my daughter and I to hold her hand and pray for peace, comfort, strength to know God is present, and that he will take care of her children when she left this ole earth. She smiled slightly, told me she loved me back, and began to rest again before we left. She never knew a stranger, loved all animals, and would open her home with loving support for anyone who needed it. She will be greatly missed. I am sad time passed and I didn't get more hugs, but knowing she is pain free and singing in the heavens now is so comforting to my soul. I'm glad I said goodbye to her that day, because after our prayers to our father, I knew where she was going, and I knew he was also present in that room to bring her home with open arms!!
