“ Mill remembers meeting Uncle Brownie for the first time at Ollustee at the Butlers he was not in uniform and Mill was 13. He was not a braggart and didn't make himself to be anyone special. Mill loved him and invited him to go elk hunting with him in Wyo. when he was in his fifties and he came and he got his elk , he knew where he shot and the elk went down. Brownie took Mill's 22 and restored the gun and it was beautiful . Marj shot it at target practice. When you asked he had many stories and he never told them to make himself out as a hero. Brownie was an excellent engineer and could make replacement parts in his garage for many things. Our daughters remember him as an excellent dancer especially to jazz and they danced with him and it's one of the greatest memories for them. He lived a life well lived, loved his wife and his daughter and especially his grand daughter .We should all try to do as well.
