“ My Jeremiah... my heart has never hurt so bad. I pray you felt me hold your hand and pray for you and tell you how much I loved you even though you were laying in that hospital bed, they say unaware. We did so much together, so many amazing things, had so many funny memories and our road trips singing paula Abdul together were unbeatable. You were a light in this ever so dark world and bright s light to my life no one else ever has. The best part of my life was shsring it with you. I was so spoiled and loved and always made me laugh. You were so sweet bringing me a hamburger fit lunch but taking a HUGE bite out of it first.LOL Best friends before and best friends after. The first time we meet it was an instant connection and man what a ride life took us on a few years later. And even after we called it quits, we stayed friends and no matter what, you helped me so much when you didn't have to. I've never seen a man love his kids as much as you did... then loved mine like your own too. Your love was so unconditional. Your heart was so big and it was golden. I still can't believe that I'll never get to hug you (literally the best hugs in this world) and say I love you Jeremiah again... at least on this earth. But when I get to heaven,i know you'll have one for me. I know you are so happy seeing you baby boy and Mamo again but our selfish hearts want you here with us. You will always be my Jeremiah and I will always be your 2 cokes. 🎵 Let it go, let it go 🎵 I promise I'll be here for your kiddos like you were always there for me... whatever they need, whatever they need. I'll love you forever.
