“ Kellie was always full of life,smiles,laughter, silliness and hugs, I never saw her without a smile.I watched Kellie through her cancer fight hold her head of up high and ask others how they were doing. She never ever tried to draw attention to herself and the battles she was going through.I do know very many person that have been as ill as Kellie was that I can say that about.

Being a retired teacher I would fully expect to see Kellie's picture beside the word friend the next time I look up the word friend in the dictionary.

Kellie, it was a pleasure to know you. I will miss seeing you around town,smiling and waving at each other !

P.S. I am so glad you are not sick ANY more.

“ Since I got the phone call Wednesday evening, looking at photos and remembering good times with Kellie has been the only antidote to my grief. I'm struck at how much living she packed into 47 years. When I look at the picture of her radiant family at Austin's wedding, I'm reminded of all she poured into her loved ones, how well she equipped her kids to live fearlessly and joyously as she did. Love you guys- Anita Johnson
