“ I learned of Kenwick's death just yesterday. I have been devastated since.

Kenwick and I met on a dating app. One might conjure up a thought that meeting someone in that way doesn't make for a substantial relationship; but it was beautiful. We weren't committed to making this exclusive, but we deeply cared about each other and stayed in contact over the past two years regularly. K-Dub as I called him sometimes was the most compatible and fun-loving man I have known since I lost my husband 4 years ago. We adored spending time together and had many common interests. I remember that I giggled a lot when I was with him, whether he was trying to make me giggle or it was just by the way his expressiveness and personality made me giggle. I just knew that when we planned a date it was going to be fun. I'd say we went out about 8 times total. Honestly, I could have fallen for him. I had just lost my father when I learned of Kdubs passing and lost my daughter earlier in the year. He was loving and supportive for me. I found him to be a passionate person with a great sense of humor. Quick-witted too. I also learned that the last text he sent me - he was wanting to come see me in Wichita on June 17th. I hadn't responded right away. So when I finally did, he didn't answer. In fact I tried every social media account, along with numerous calls and texts to him. It wasn't until I decided to google his name (and yes a dreadful thought went in to my head as I was doing this yesterday that perhaps he might have died!!) to see if I could find another way to contact him - it was then that I learned of his accident. I am so very sorry for to all his siblings, parents and his precious son that he talked about a lot to me. I love you Kenwick - may peace and light be upon you dear, dear friend.

I also met Kenwick on dating app and we became great friends. My husband abandoned me before he died and I was very lonely. I wanted to get my life together and see if we might have a chance for something more. I think about him often and can't wait to see the movie next week. My deepest condolences for his family and friends. Peace be with you, Amen.

“ In 1988, while living in Tulsa, I was invited to the set of the movie UHF. Imagine my surprise seeing my old HS friend, and former co-worker, sitting back stage. After working my way around to where he was, I was able to get his attention. We spent the next couple of evenings catching up, while backstage on the movie set. I was introduced to many of the cast members, of course, but had the most fun watching Michael Richards rehearsing lines and practicing facial expressions. He had us nearly in tears. Keep in mind that this was right before the world got to know him as Cosmo Kramer. A treasured memory with a great friend. He will be missed.

You were quite a force or nature, Kenwick. I think now of your son Kaden, his mother Susan, and your family and friends. Thank you for sharing your brightness and all its shadows and shine with us. You are missed.

"May the four winds blow you safely home"

So sad and sorry to hear of Kenwick's tragic passing. Heartfelt sympathy to Kenwick's family, especially his son Kaden and his loving girlfriend, Terry. This Earthly plane is a far less interesting place without him. He'll always be known as 'Frankenwick, the Deadhead with those cool stealie glasses' around Boulder.
