“ Jeannie came to us as the "new" girl in the eighth grade. We were going to vote for class president and she decided to run. Being a minority (girls were outnumbered in the class by almost 70 percent) the boys were going to rule. I was even the campaign manager for the class jock and he was a shoo in.

Then on the day of the election, Jeannie announced that if elected she would host a (what we called) a "bubble gum" dance for the class. She won by a landslide.....I admit now that even I voted for her. Rosetta of course was the chaperone.

She will be missed and my heart goes out to the family. She was and always will be some kind of special.
