“ So many memories come to mind and thinking of our friend Mark obviously the first ones are going to be revolving around automobiles and Mustang especially however Mark was neighborhood caretaker for many pets children lost souls and wonders he never turned anybody down that I know of and they needed it help out on a hand out he never asked for much in return and most the time does he helped ended up helping himself to his things although sometimes frustrated he never let it deterred or get him up down he helped people for the right reasons not to get ahead or have anything come back just because it needed done I know for a fact that the corner of Frank Phillips and Comanche will be in a little bit colder. Until we meet again my friend rest easy
