“ I have a lifetime of memories. The number far exceeds my typing ability, and the words could not begin to describe the richness of those moments that have been wandering through my mind. Her life was a testament to the responsibilities of humanity. Even the frailty of last few months of her time on this earth could not hamper the care and concern that she had for others. If you knew her, you loved her. If she knew you, she loved you.

Since I don't know how much space I have, this is what I want everyone to know. Through the Grace of God, I am blessed far beyond measure to have been her son. Few are afforded the privilege of having 69 years to share with their Mother.

Time will never fill the emptiness that her passing has left, but I take comfort in knowing that she is in a much better place, than the one she left behind. That I have two Brothers who share so many of the same memories, we grew up knowing this Strong, Loving, and Caring woman, as Mom.
