“ Mother, it will be 4 years this summer since you passed & I'm still having difficulty believing you're gone! I've accidentally dialed your number through the years. Kept waiting to hear "Forrest residence" but it no longer exists. I haven't actually allowed myself to fully grieve the loss of you. I guess I don't think I could survive the full impact. I'd like once more to hear your argumentative conversation & negative words just so I'd have an opportunity to once again see your beautiful face. I miss you Mother! I pray you've found peace.
