“ I know we went our separate ways a long time ago, but my thoughts & prayers are with you & your family. I never would have wanted something like this for you or your loved ones. I hope your soul is at rest & your family heals as much as one can hope to heal from something like this. I'm glad I got to see you a few weeks ago even if it was only for a few minutes but I'm sorry it will be the last time. I wish we could have come together in friendship once more, but maybe in another life. Sending so many prayers to you & your loved ones!
