“Boys, your momma was truly one of my best buds! I have many story's that include her and two other dear friends. The four of us always had a great time when we had our get togethers. The one thing that I loved the most about your momma, my shopping partner was her honesty!!! She made sure that the truth was told when others would lie out the butt crack. That is truly how we developed the friendship that we had. She was my Botox buddy... My let's go to Olive Garden and then do some shopping buddy. I can't even begin to tell you how much she is missed and will continue to be missed by this lady along with our two other Christmas party get together friends. She was ( IS) loved by the three of us ... one day we will have to get together for a dinner (maybe Olive Garden) and I can share some of my fond memories of your great mom!
