“ I will always remember Vicky as someone you were always happy to be around and visit with. I cannot picture her face without a smile on it. Such was the case this last October when she and Ed showed up at our high school reunion. It was like a bonus reunion because most of us had not had the chance to visit with her in a while.

I wish for strength and comfort to Ed and their family. May the light of her memories soon overtake the darkness of their grief.
