“ It was my good fortune to have taken a few road trips in the company of Violet (Sherry, David and Charlie too) and she was one of the best roommates a person could have. Even though she was old enough to be my mother I always thought of her as my friend. We laughed over the things that went wrong on a trip and enjoyed all the things that went right. We were kindred spirits; talking to the people we encountered on a trip brought us as much pleasure as the sites we had seen. Sherry, you and your mother won the mother /daughter lottery. You had a most loving mother and she had a daughter who could not have loved her more. With much love, sympathy to everyone in this special family.

“ When I remember Violet, I remember all the fun and good times and the many laughs we had together, working together at Murphys. She was the first one I would see when I came in every morning. There she would be, smiling. She knew how to make that brown gravy better than anyone could. Murphys was never the same when she retired. She left a big void that was never filled. I know she is with Jesus today, and for that my heart can be at peace. Fly high, my beautiful friend. I will see you again someday. <3
