“ Uncle Wally, I never got to meet you but from what mom told me you must have been a great man to cut up with. I saw the pictures aunt Cathy had posted of your flag at half mast. Thank you for your service to this country. It means a lot to me knowing that I come from a family where the men are smart and brave. Rest easy soldier, it is your time for peace.

“ Uncle Wally,
I am so sorry that I didn't get to know you as well as the other nieces and nephews did. I do remember the few times I did get to see you and talk. When you came in when I lived in Helton Hollow you had me scared to death cause of that story you told me about that man with no legs that had lived up there years ago and that he still roamed that holler. I remember you having a big dinner with me and Carl and Cyle and telling me I was a good cook. I remember you hugging me and telling me I seemed like I grew up fine and Carl giving you those 2 handsaws, I think you said you painted on them as a hobby. Anyway, I may not have all the memories that the others have of you. but the ones I do have I will continue to cherish. Please keep smiling and joking in Heaven and PLEASE hug grandma and aunt Louise for me.

I will always love you.
