“ My mom, Glenda Sisney, and aunt Wilma were 2 years apart. They learned to drive together, double-dated, and got married within 2 weeks of each other. They both ended up pregnant at the same time. They lived within a block of each other and would walk to each other's house and go to the market to get lemons for their pregnancy cravings. Ricky was born one month before me. I have good memories of the Medlock family growing up. The loss of Wilma is crushing and we, along with the Medlock family, will be reeling for a long time. Our prayers and love are with the family.
